COLORADO STAR Impressive on the Champagne Turf

Colorado Star although he didn't win on the 16th January he certainly kicked off the first race of the Wellington Cup Carnival with an impressive run when finishing in second place to the very promising Tavistock gelding in Wononeohwon, who made it his third consecutive win for the inform Jono Benner and Hollie Wynyard stables. Colorado Star aka Fluffy was ridden by Johnathan Parkes who settled him back from a wide draw then improved around them turning for home.

Johnathan was really impressed with him, he did try and run in up the straight which cost him being ridden out to the line in the final stages.

Mike will be looking at trying him in a set of blinkers or visors for his next start which is anticipated to be in the Duro Cup on Wellington Cup Day. #GoFluffyGo

DARCI BRAHMA X INTRODUCTION 2019 COLT

The Darci Brahma x Introduction Colt arrived at Gareth Baird's Milton Park Stables in Bulls on Monday 11th. His first report was that he was a really impressive type and looked like he would run early. He said he got straight off the float and never turned a hair just went straight for the feed bin! He has started the breaking in process and he said he is going well and hasn't had any behaviour problems with him and seems to be picking everything up nicely. Once Gareth gets him up to working around the track nicely we will be organising a date to go out there and watch him work. Milton Park is a really good place for educating horses as it is based in sand country and more of a farm style property they get to experience a lot and I believe all the extra experience they get out of their comfort zone benefits them hugely as they progress on to racing and travelling. Horses can get very stuck in a routine and used to only seeing and doing the same thing every day and when they are not used to a changing environment this is when they can fall to pieces under pressure. So in the farm style environment everything changes by the day around them and they come across things that they will not at the track in town, this all adds to the conditioning for racing both mentally and physically.

I still have a few shares left in this boy if you are interested please get in touch, the costs involved are $3800 per 5% share this includes the purchase and all other costs up until Oct 2021

PARISIAN POPPY KNOCKING ON THE DOOR FOR A WIN

Parisian Poppy is on the verge of a win with her first start following Christmas on Boxing Day where on her home track she was very excitable in the Birdcage prior to her race. She raced well in the hands of stable apprentice Faye Lazet but was held up in the straight and went to the line just in behind the winning bunch under a hold. Her next raceday appearance was at Tauherenikau on the 2nd Jan. It was a really hot day with a huge crowd in attendance, making for a good excuse for horses to get hot under the collar and misbehave. Poppy put her best foot forward and never turned a hair all day she paraded and waited around at the start like a true professional with Faye on board. With the barrier draw of 11 she was stuck 3 wide in the running but finished with a strong run home to finish only a neck from the winner in third place. Mike is looking at heading to Hawkes Bay with her next on the 28th January.

VALHALLA RISING

Valhalla Rising has proven to be a bit timid in amongst the field and tends to back off once he gets in close proximity of another horse in the running. This is quite common with green horses and we are currently trying a few different methods in track work to try and get him a little braver around other horses. We have seen that he has the ability to win a few races but it is just a matter of getting him in the right frame of mind to deliver on raceday.

ZAMBEZI LASS

The Tavistock x Zambezi filly has been named Zambezi Lass and is currently in work pre-paring for her raceday debut . She is an impressive filly who shows a huge amount of natural athletic ability. She trialed at Otaki last week and was discovered to be a bit shin sore afterwards. We have backed off on her work load for a few days to let them recover. As Mike has the Aqua Walker at the stables it is easy to keep their fitness levels up while not putting the pressure on their legs at the track while they recover. Hopefully all going well she will have another trial or jumpout and then make her first raceday appearance following that. The Tavistocks are really flying at the moment so lets hope we can jump on that bandwagon of success that the Tavistock Zabeel cross seems to posses.

VORALTO

While Sacred Falls progeny seem to be winning everything at the moment Voralto just hasn't really shown alot. To be fare to the horse she has had a few niggly issues along the way but her next start will be the decider for her racing career. She is a lovely horse but just doesn't seem to want to or be able to put everything together on raceday to pull a win off. She has shown ability but we need to see more if we are to continue with her.

KHALFANI

Khalfani aka Nifty has just returned into work from having a month and half spelling in the paddock at my property on Jackeytown Road. She had picked up a virus or cough that she just couldn't shake while in the pressure of the stable environment and like a naughty child she refused to eat the antibiotics prescribed so a short break was the best medicine for her. She did really well on her break and was a real delight to have in the paddock, a horse you could send a child in to feed with no concern for their safety. She is now back in work and looks to be around six weeks away from heading back to the race track. In her earlier preparations and education she has been quite the hand full and as we have all seen she had many tricks up her sleeve, but she really seems to have matured now and I am sure this time in we will pick up a few wins with her.

BETTER DAYS

Better Days aka Betty has just return to the stables after having a spell out at my place. She has a huge appetite and you enter at your own risk at dinner time!! There is no such thing as backing off with Betty she comes at you to get the feed and if you happen get in between the feed bin and her wellthat's the end of you!! In saying that she has a great attitude, knows what she wants and is also very sensible at the same time. She is showing that she can handle anything that you throw at her, she is cool calm and collected and hasn't really turned a hair at anything she has been asked to do. Last prep she had a jump out which she preformed really well in and pulled up totally unfazed, this was followed by a trial where she preformed ok but showed that she will be needing more ground which was expected so we opted to give her a short break. She is about six weeks away from having a jumpout or a trial. Betty is one of those horses that you watch and just know she has a lot of ability and the brains to carry it off.
